Discover Family History at Your Library

Are you interested in discovering your family history but don't know where to start? Have you tried to search for genealogical resources online and ran into a dead end? If you need answers to these and any other questions related to your family history, visit your public or school library for access to Ancestry Library Edition. Ancestry Library Edition is a genealogy research tool created especially for libraries. It gives users instant access to a wide range of unique resources for genealogical and historical research. With more than 4 billion names in over 4,000 databases, Ancestry Library Edition is an excellent resource for the casual researcher as well as the experienced genealogist. It includes records from the United States census, military and land records, probate records, vital and church records, directories, passenger lists, and more.

Ancestry Library Edition and other Online Library Resources can be accessed at your school or public library. If you have questions about accessing this resource, please contact your library, school, or the North Dakota State Library at 800-471-2104. The North Dakota State Library and the Online Dakota Information Network (ODIN) have coordinated the funding from the North Dakota State Legislature and libraries statewide to provide access to Online Library Resources for North Dakota citizens.
