Farmers Markets - Growers 2014-15

Dear Friends,

Agriculture plays a major role in the lives of all North Dakotans. Our state's largest industry, agriculture represents and encompasses much of our rich heritage and culture. In fact, 25 percent of our workforce is employed by agriculture, and 90 percent of our land is used to support it. This diverse and vibrant industry produces a wide array of products, thanks largely to the hard work and use of efficient production practices by our 30,000 farmers and ranchers. We lead the nation in the production of many commodities, such as spring wheat, durum, canola, dry beans and honey.

An increasingly important segment of this great industry is local foods, a movement based on the direct sales of farm products to local buyers. Examples of the local foods movement – farmers markets, food co-ops, community supported agriculture (CSAs), community orchards, roadside stands and pick-your-own gardens – are growing in numbers and size all across all our state.

Our 2014-15 Local Foods Directory will help you find the growers and the products you are looking for. It lists North Dakota farmers markets and producers by county and alphabetically. It also provides lists of products that can be found at the markets or are directly available from producers.

Please contact us at the North Dakota Department of Agriculture if you have any questions about our farmers markets and direct-from-the-farm sales. You can reach us at ndda@nd.gov, or 701-328-2231.

I hope to see you this summer at a North Dakota farmers market.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Doug Goehring". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Doug Goehring

WELCOME

This is your new 2014-15 North Dakota Local Foods Directory, showcasing farmers markets and growers across our state. It is your guide to finding and enjoying local produce and other food products in your area. Buying local supports North Dakota's small businesses and rural communities.

All directory entries are listed alphabetically, by region and by business type. A full index starts on Page 12.

If you know of a business that should be included in this guide, please contact the North Dakota Department of Agriculture.

Thank you for supporting North Dakota agriculture and remember: Buy Local!

*The North Dakota
Farmers Market &
Growers Association can help you improve your community's market and support locally grown and processed North Dakota products.*

North Dakota Farmers Market & Growers Association (NDFMGA)

PURPOSE

- Build farmers markets that connect producers and consumers.
- Develop marketing tools and strategies for producers and market managers.
- Increase consumer and producer awareness on the benefits of fresh, locally grown products.

Membership in this organization is available to everyone engaged in the production, promotion or direct marketing of freshly grown or processed North Dakota products.

MEMBERSHIP

Membership is open to all formally organized farmers markets and to individual growers who actively engage in direct marketing of locally grown or processed North Dakota products.

Farmers market managers are responsible for providing their vendors with NDFMGA member brochures detailing the benefits of NDFMGA. The association will provide the brochures to market managers once membership dues are received.

Each vendor of a farmers market in good standing with the NDFMGA who returns their contract information shall receive all benefits of membership.

NOTE: Each NDFMGA member listed in the directory is labeled with the association logo.

How To Use This Directory

This directory lists North Dakota farmers markets, products and services that are available directly from the farmer. You can search by type of service, alphabetically by farm or market name, or by region.

To search by SERVICE:

The index is divided into several categories including farmers markets (page 5), CSAs (page 6), U-picks (page 7), road-side stands (page 8), on-farm sales (page 9), wholesale (page 10), and mail order/call in (page 11).

To search by NAME:

If you know the name of the farm or market, you can find them quickly by referring to the Alphabetical Index on pages 12-13.

To search by REGION:

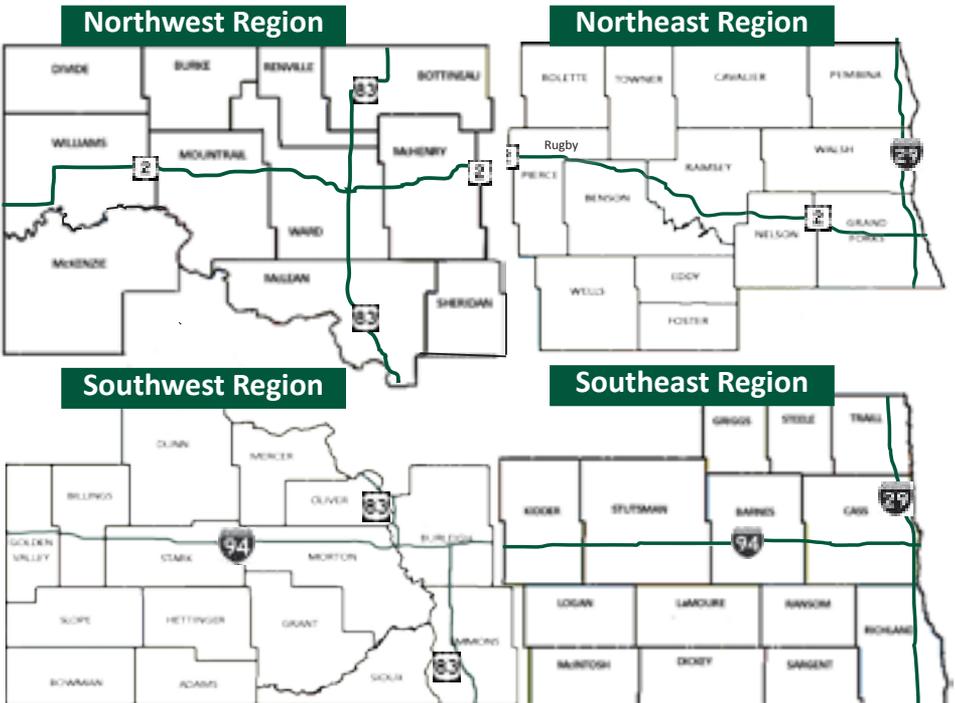

The directory is separated into four North Dakota regions (see map below). Within each region the farm and market listing are sorted alphabetically by county.

Northwest Region (page 18)

Southeast Region (page 43)

North Dakota Farmers Markets

Find North Dakota Farmers, Food & Fun at our Markets!

Farmers markets are usually held outdoors in public spaces and allow farmers, growers and producers to sell direct to customers.

According to USDA, the number of farmers markets more than tripled from 1,755 to 6,132 between 1994 and 2010. In North Dakota, the number has grown from five markets in 2004 to around 50 in 2013.

Community Supported Agriculture (CSAs)

In a CSA, consumers purchase a “share” in a farm and receive a box of local produce every week or two weeks in return for sharing the risk of farming. Some CSAs offer other products, such as flowers, eggs, meat, cheese and baked goods.

U-pick Farms

A farm that allows customers to harvest their own produce is called a U-pick farm. Small fruits like strawberries and raspberries are often marketed right from the field. Fees for picking include sampling. The cost savings for hiring harvest help are also passed on to the customer.

Roadside Stands

Some farmers set up a one-person, farmers market on the road near the farm. These are sometimes spur-of-the-moment events, but other farmers also set a summer schedule making it easy for daily or weekly visits by consumers.

Hunger Free ND Garden Project

The North Dakota Department of Agriculture has partnered with the Great Plains Food Bank to help increase the quantity of fresh produce available to people across the state who do not have access for a variety of reasons. From May-November we are, together, encouraging fresh, locally grown produce donations to food pantries, soup kitchens, shelters, schools, churches, and other community organizations to help provide the opportunity for as many people as possible to enjoy and benefit from North Dakota's tremendous wealth of agriculture.

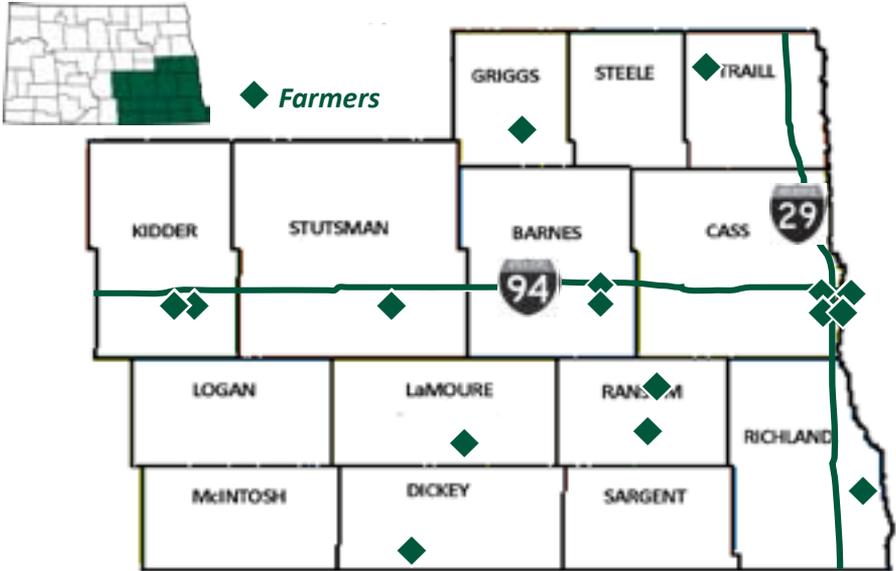

We encourage you to become a part of the Hunger Garden Project. Plant an extra row or acre to donate to a participating organization in your community.

May 2014
